

NATURE TELLS YOU

As Many a Paris Reader Knows
Too Well

When the kidneys are weak, Nature tells you about it. The urine is nature's index. Infrequent or too frequent passage.

Other disorders suggest kidney trouble. Doan's Kidney Pills are for diseased kidneys. Ask your neighbor. Paris people testify to their worth. D. L. Honican, 411 Main Street, says: "A few months ago my kidneys almost put me out of business. They were weak and I was annoyed by the frequent action of my kidneys. The secretions were highly colored and passed frequently. My back ached most all the time. I was restless at night and couldn't sleep. My kidneys were in such bad shape that I began using Doan's Kidney Pills, which I got at Oberdorfer's Drug Store and it didn't take them long to fix me up in good shape. I have never since been bothered and I can't recommend Doan's Kidney Pills any too highly."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Honican had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y. (adv.)

Most of Them Shame.

Of the Cosmopolitan club, Thackeray said, "Everybody is or is supposed to be a celebrity; nobody ever says anything worth hearing; and every one goes there with his white choker at midnight to appear as if he had just been dining with the aristocracy. I have no doubt," he added, "that half of us put on the white cravat after a solitary dinner at home or at our club, and so go down among the Cosmopolitans." PHYSICAL CULTURE MAGAZINE ENDORSES CHIROPRACTIC FOR PNEUMONIA

Official recognition of the excellent results following Chiropractic adjustments in cases of the dread disease, pneumonia, is made by Physical Culture Magazine in its issue for October, 1921.

Bernarr MacFadden, editor of the magazine and a prominent authority on matters of health, heartily endorses the Chiropractic method in the editorial referred to, saying that Chiropractors have proven definitely that they can practically remove the possibilities of death from this epidemic.

Comparing drugless methods of relieving pneumonia with the "treatment" of school physicians, Mr. MacFadden says:

"We maintain that the curative power lies within the body itself; that the body is self-regulating and that the vital processes in many of its intricacies are beyond mortal ken."

"In depending upon what we might term the inner bodily intelligence for a remedial force we are going far above mortal man."

"We are looking to Nature or God, as you may class the mysterious, Omnipotent Force or Creator of all life."

"The healing profession can never be really scientific until a basis of this sort has been reached."

"Even the medical doctor who depends solely on drugs as a remedial measure will tell you that the body must cure itself."

"But we maintain that medicine of all kinds interferes with the cure; that it hides the cause of the ailment; that it befuddles the issue and prevents both physician and patient from recognizing the real disease and attacking it at its source, namely the blood-making process."

"If these statements are accurate then why should physicians who refuse to investigate be allowed to continue their old-time life-destroying practices? With a few rare exceptions every pneumonia case that results in a death means a needless sacrifice of life. Thousands are passing away as these words are being written, for the lack of the simple life-saving knowledge herewith presented."

"In the quietude of the sick room, men blinded by moss-back allopathic principles are treating the sick. And millions have died who might have been saved by these modern methods."—Physical Culture Magazine.

PRINTER HAD REASON TO BE PEEVED

Charlie Harris, of Fort Worth, Texas, a friend of Mr. Nubbins in the printing business, got slightly peeved at a letter from a doctor who wanted bids on several thousand letterheads, different sizes, different kinds, different grades, and different colors, and wanted the printing form held standing. So Charlie took his typewriter in hand and wrote:

"Am in the market for one operation for appendicitis, one, two or five inch incision—with or without either—also with or without nurse. If appendix is found sound, want quotation to include putting same back and cancelling order. If removed successful bidder is expected to hold incision open for about sixty days, as I expect to be in the market for an operation for gall-stones at that time and want to save the extra cost of cutting."

COURT DECIDES NEWSPAPER NOT MANUFACTURING PLANT

A newspaper is not a manufacturing plant within the meaning of the Kentucky statute and therefore is not exempt from local taxation, the Court of Appeals held in reversing a judgment of the Fayette Circuit Court in the suit of The Lexington Leader Company against the city of Lexington. The newspaper company sought to obtain exemption from local taxation for the years 1917 to 1919 inclusive. The opinion was handed down by Judge Thomas.

Indian Summer.

The term, Indian summer, is loosely and incorrectly used to designate any mild period of the autumn after the first frosts have come and the foliage of the hard wood trees, the maple especially, has been turned from green to purple, gold and crimson. Some people speak of such a spell of mild, sunny, even balmy weather, as Indian summer. The true Indian summer, called by some writers on Indian life and customs, Squaw summer, comes later, and never earlier than November.

A Study in Stale Bread.

It is suggested that bread can be kept fresh by placing it in a fireless cooker immediately after it is removed from the oven. This suggestion has been made by Prof. J. R. Katz of Amsterdam, who has been trying to discover what makes bread grow stale. He has found that low temperature is the chief cause. Bread kept at 140 degrees F. was quite fresh at the end of 48 hours but when the temperature was reduced to 122 degrees the bread began to grow stale, and continued to increase in staleness down to about three degrees below the freezing point.

The "Alligator Pear."

The earliest mention of the manner in which the name "alligator pear" was first applied to the avocado, the true name of the fruit, is found in the writings of James Grainger, a Scotch physician and poet, who went to the West Indies in 1759, and died there at St. Christopher, December 16, 1766. Grainger produced a number of works, including essays, and among them, "The Sugar Cane," published in London in 1763, in which he says, in allusion to the corruption of the name avocado: "The avocado, avocado, avigato, or as the English call it, 'alligator pear.'"

LAST OF THE "TWELVE DAYS"

Epiphany, Originally, Was Celebrated Rather Than Christmas, According to Some Authorities.

THE EPIPHANY is the last day of the "Twelve Days" of which Christmas is the first. Authorities on this subject tell us that originally it was Epiphany which was celebrated rather than Christmas. It was the baptism of Jesus (for the spiritual birth) which interested the early church fathers rather than Christmas (or the physical birth). In some circles in early Christianity the baptism appears to have been looked upon as the true birth of Christ, the moment when, filled by the spirit, He became the Son of God.

For some time the two events were celebrated together on January 6. Gradually the western church began to stress the physical birth, and eventually the two events were celebrated separately, December 25 being fixed upon as the date for the Nativity. In the East the celebration of the two events continued for some time after the separate feast of Christmas had been instituted. The Church of Jerusalem stood out until the Seventh century, refusing to adopt the new feast. The Armenian church knows nothing of December 25, and still celebrates the Nativity with the Epiphany in January. Epiphany is a greater festival in the Greek church than Christmas.

Such in bare outline is the story of the spread of Christmas as a separate festival. Christmas Customs, Wrapped in Dim Traditions, Bright With Happiness and Beauty.

THE GIFTS OF THE SEASON

Christmas Customs, Wrapped in Dim Traditions, Bright With Happiness and Beauty.

ESIDES the presents wrapped in crackling white tissue paper, bright with scarlet ribbon that will be put into eager hands from Christmas trees, there are countless other gifts of the season, writes Elizabeth R. Kingsley in the Cleveland Plain Dealer. These come wrapped in the dim traditions of hundreds and thousands of years, they have traveled from far away countries, they are bright with the happiness and beauty of long-ago Christmases—they are our Christmas customs.

Christmas carols have come to us from the Holy Land itself, the Christmas tree from the East via Germany. Santa Claus has sped from Holland on the reindeer loaned him in the Far North, our stockings hung first in the chimneys of France and Belgium; even the Christmas cards with their cheery greetings have crossed the ocean from England. Perhaps the only purely American product is the Christmas turkey.

The First Christmas Card.

The exchange of greeting cards, though now such a recognized part of Christmastide ceremonial, is a custom of quite recent origin. The honor of its invention is claimed for three men, all famous in other connections, Rev. Edward Bradley (better known as Cuthbert Bede, author of "Verdant Green"); J. C. Horsley, R. A., and the late W. C. T. Dobson, R. A. Cuthbert Bede had a card printed from his own design for circulation in 1845, and two years later his printer, a Newcastle firm, put a number of cards on the market. About the same time, in 1840, J. C. Horsley designed a card for Sir Harry Cope of Summerly's Printing house, Old Bond street. The subject was a typical scene of feasting and jollity. One thousand copies were printed and one of the few survivors sold a few years since for £50. According to some authorities Mr. Dobson was really the first in the field.—Westminster Gazette.

WHAT DID SHE MEAN

Tom—I'm going away Christmas.
Alice—is that so? What's that he says?

Old-Fashioned Doughnuts.

One pint of sugar, one-half cupful of butter, two eggs, one pint of fresh milk; one teaspoonful of soda dissolved in hot water, half a teaspoonful each of salt, nutmeg and cinnamon, flour enough to make a stiff dough. Stand in a cool place 24 hours, then roll, cut and fry. The dough will keep a week and a few can be fried every day if one likes them fresh from the pan.

Prompt Settlement.

"Indeed, Cousin Jack, we owe you a great deal for helping to decorate the room for our Christmas party."
"Then, as you acknowledge the debt, come over here under the mistletoe and let me collect some of the overhead charges."

For Youngsters.

Youngsters enjoy working with colored beads and for them a gift of a box of assorted colored glass beads is quite appropriate. These beads are used for kindergarten work and are quite inexpensive.

TOBACCO FARMERS

Our Prices Averaged $28.70

Does It Pay to Join the Pool?

The Farmers Tobacco Warehouse, of Huntington, W. Va., opened December 1st with over 100,000 pounds of tobacco on the floors for sale. Because of blocked sale, only 54,280 pounds were sold, but THIS BROUGHT AN AVERAGE OF $28.70 PER HUNDRED POUNDS.

HERE ARE SOME OF THE HIGH-PRICED CROPS OF THE DAY

Oliver Spurlock, Beach Fork and Lavellette, West Va. $63.75 per hundred
M. McCoy, Pliny, W. Va. $45.40 per hundred
E. Collins, Crown City, O. $41.20 per hundred
Lawrence Lockhart, Lavalette, W. Va. . . $40.85 per hundred
Arch Smith, Leon and Webbville, Ky. . . $39.65 per hundred
(FOR THEIR ENTIRE CROPS)

No tricks were resorted to in order to boost the average. The tobacco was sold as it ran. Had it not been for several thousand pounds of old, low, common grades, the price would have run up to $31.52 per hundred, general average. AND THERE WAS NOT ONE REJECTION DURING THE DAY.

Practically all factory buyers were represented, and the bidding was spirited.

I advised in October and November that my warehouse would open on December 1, that buyers were assured me and that prices would be satisfactory. I am letting the figures speak for themselves.

I have fought the pool from THE START, and my warehouse was the only one that did. I did not carry water on both shoulders, but openly announced my stand. Had it not been for my stand, this market would have been closed as they are in Kentucky.

The farmers stood by me in my opening sale. Over 85 wagons of the 100 coming to this market on the first day entered my warehouse. The shippers also stood by me in the fight to keep this market open. There was not one dissatisfied farmer on my floor.

These statements are absolute facts, and are not stretched for advertising purposes.

Ship or bring your tobacco to my warehouse, and help fight the pool. I positively will not sell out to the pool interests as long as the farmers stand by me.
